Bluesource Migrates over 1 Petabyte of Email in Just 30 Days

DALLAS, TX – Bluesource migrated over one petabyte (1PB) of email for a single large global enterprise customer in just 30 days using its proprietary ArchiveMASH™ platform.

The project moved over 1PB (the equivalent of 1,000 terabytes or 1,000,000 gigabytes) of legacy email data from a complex, highly regulated environment to a new archive– all while maintaining full chain of custody and ensuring uninterrupted access for end users.

The project involves eight parallel migrations across different geographical markets. The entire project is over six petabytes of data. Bluesource aims to keep the pace of 1PB/month through completion.

"ArchiveMASH™ was built to handle exactly this kind of challenge," said Tom Lounsbury, Director of Sales at Bluesource. "Moving a petabyte of historical email data in a month with accuracy and zero downtime is something most vendors can't do. This proves why enterprises and government agencies trust us for complex migrations."

The client, a multinational organization in a tightly regulated industry, needed to modernize compliance, optimize storage, and implement a long-term retention strategy quickly. Bluesource delivered:

- 1PB of archived email data migrated in 30 days
- High-speed ingestion and parallelized extraction via ArchiveMASH™
- 100% chain of custody preservation
- Full reconciliation and defensible audit reporting
- Zero disruption to end-user access
- Seamless cutover to the customer's new archive

With over two decades of experience in enterprise data governance, Bluesource is a trusted partner for organizations migrating off legacy platforms.

"This project reinforces what our customers already know," added Lounsbury. "ArchiveMASH™ delivers fast, reliable migrations – whether it's 10TB or 10PB. We're the only vendor who can match this scale and speed."
